Naval Affairs Sub-Committee Inspected New Field Wednesday Afternoon

The sub-committee on Naval Affairs, charged with the duty of investigating civic conditions in certain areas on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts, paid an unannounced visit to the Naval Airport at Ash Point Wednesday afternoon, arriving in two Navy planes, one of which was piloted by Commander John C. Alderman, who is in charge of the new Brunswick Airport.

In the party were the following Representatives to Congress: Edward V. Isaac of California, chairman of the sub-committee; John Z. Anderson of California; John E. Fogarty of Rhode Island; and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

The group was met at the Ash Point Airport by Lieut. Flood, officer in this district; Mayor Edward R. Veazie, Chief Engineer Van E. Russell, and a representative of The Courier-Gazette.

The visitors came from Portland where they had just completed their hearings in that area, the last in their list of assignments. The other areas visited were San Diego, Calif., the San Francisco Bay area, Hampton Roads, Va., Newport, R. I., and Portland. Some of the reports have already been received, while those from Newport and Portland will shortly be forthcoming.

A member of the board told The Courier-Gazette reporter that the investigators had found certain evils which demand correction, but that the conditions in Portland were not nearly as bad as they had found in the most congested sections.

The Congressional delegation flew over Bar Harbor on its way to Ash Point, making no landing there, however.

The visit to the Ash Point Airport was of especial interest and pleasure to Mrs. Smith, for it was in her own district and immediately upon alighting from her plane she launched a barrage of questions which demonstrated to the officials and to Mayor Veazie how closely she had kept in touch with the big project.

"We think a lot of Mrs. Smith in this district," remarked The Courier-Gazette reporter to Chairman Isaac. "And don't we all in Washington," he replied with enthusiasm.

Mrs. Smith's next visit to her district will be made June 5 when she sponsors the launching of a new Naval craft there.

The Congressional group remained at the Airport nearly half an hour, expressing approval of what has been done to convert a swamp and timberland into a modern flying field, which is eventually to be the headquarters of 300 service men.

The committee made another stop at the new Brunswick Airport, and then proceeded to Boston where the Representatives boarded a train for Washington.

New Beano Rules

What State of Maine Does and Does Not Allow—No
"Racketeering"

Rules intended to eliminate "racketeering" in the game of beano playing of which will become legal in Maine after July 9 as a result of legislative action, are announced by State Police Chief Weaver.

Only fraternal, church, charitable and similar organizations and State agricultural fairs may operate the game under the regulations which were approved by Attorney General Cowan. Licenses require municipal approval.

Only one person may receive pay, limited to $10 a day, for management of a game, and he must have been a member in good standing of the organization sponsoring the game for at least two years.

Licenses will cost $2 for each six-day period, and cash prizes are barred, with prize values limited to $5. Sunday play is barred, no admission may be charged, and minors under 16 cannot be present at games. Names of prize winners and the nature and value of awards must be included in reports filed with the State Police within three days after the game.

Two Burned and One Badly
Damaged At Perry Coal
Plant Fire

Two trucks were ruined and another badly damaged by fire believed to have been caused by ignited gasoline in the building housing the trucks owned by M. B. & C. O. Perry, Wednesday night. Fire Chief Van E. Russell stated that the estimated damage to trucks was $2000, and building $200.

An aftermath of the fire, the alarm for which was blown at 8:35, was the arraignment before Judge Zelma M. Dwinall in Municipal Court, Thursday, of Percy Colson of Rockland, who waived hearing on a charge of hindering and obstruct-

[EDITORIAL]

THE NAVY

Those persons in Portland who have been looking somewhat askance at the presence of so many of Uncle Sam's sailors, and some of the things they are alleged to have done, found the shoe on the other foot Wednesday when they read the testimony of high Naval officials presented before the sub-committee of the House Naval affairs committee sitting in Portland. These officers "talked right out in meeting"—to use a homely old phrase.

Lieut. Chase, welfare and recreation officer stationed in Portland, declared that its theatres were "inadequate and poorly ventilated" and that very little "reputable commercial dancing" was to be found the past winter. Capt. King, officer in charge, naval shore activities, said that since a Naval hospital ship had departed, "we have been left in a dangerous situation" as concerns hospital facilities. He said civilian hospitals of this war-boomed community were overtaxed and "we can count on practically nothing" from them. Housing was so acute, he continued, that Naval personnel were warned not to bring their families until they had found suitable accommodations. Everything built in Casco Bay for Naval use, King continued, has been about "half large enough." Expressing dissatisfaction with waterfront fire protection, King said, "we could never remove the sick or wounded from the section base dispensary if fire developed the waterfront."

Lieut. Commander Torrance reported 36 cases of venereal diseases among 1000 Portland Navy personnel, compared with a rate of 31 for the entire Navy, 25 for Naval forces ashore and 13 for the first Naval district, of which Portland is a part. Torrance said a breakdown of the figures indicated that 69 percent of the cases in Portland met their contacts in beer parlors, 13 percent in cocktail lounges, and 13 percent were picked up on the street. Girls under 18 years of age were involved in a majority of cases, he said. His investigators had determined, he added, that 17 percent of all women arrested by Portland police from April 1 to Sept. 30, 1942, were under 17 years of age.

The outstanding disaster to Germany, within its borders, at least, was the destruction of the Mohne dam system by daring British airmen. Scores of towns were submerged when 134,000,000 tons of water were unleashed in the Ruhr valley, and an uncounted loss of life has resulted. From the standpoint of military strategy it meant the destruction of many scores of industrial war plants, the replacement of which will occupy months, providing the vigilant R. A. F. permits it to proceed. A paralyzing and terrorizing disaster which has struck home to the German people with a more vivid effect, perhaps, than the reversals the German Army suffered in Russia last winter, or the Italo-German forces have more recently sustained in Tunisia. A master stroke, indeed!

WETTING
RUHR VALLEY

After enjoying a brief moment of victory in the United States Senate the measure went back to the House where defeat was again its lot. It must be admitted that the Ruml plan gave its opponents a full run for its money, for its final defeat was by the close vote of 202 to 194, the House standing firm for 75 percent cancellation. The failure of the House to coincide with the Senate was due, no doubt, to the President's intimation of a veto if it passed. The Ruml plan had its good points and its bad ones, and it is interesting to speculate as to how the country at large would have voted on the measure.

MADE A
FIGHT

The amazing success of Wendell Willkie's book, "One World," has stirred the alert editors of the New Yorker to make inquiry into the situation. They find that the work is breaking literary records both for speed and extent. At a conservative estimate the New Yorker feels that the royalties will reach $100,000, but Mr. Willkie very generously said when the volume came out that he would donate the proceeds to four important agencies, the Red Cross, British Relief, China Relief and Russian Relief.

But the New Yorker raises the question of the United States income tax. In that a person may deduct 15 percent of his income if it is given to certain causes. It would mean, however, that on $85,000 the Federal collector would have to be paid. It may be assumed that Mr. Willkie's abilities have put him in receipt of a substantial income. There will be a tax on that, as the higher brackets pay heavily. All in all it seems possible, according to the New Yorker's calculations, that he may be paying out more than comes in. It is a strange situation. This man may be the most successful of American authors but his generosity may have put him in a position where he will be out of pocket. Yet he is delighted at the reception of his contribution to current literature.—Boston Globe.

Exceeded Its Quota

Chairmen McDougall and Chase Report Success of Second War Loan

Maine exceeded its quota in the recent Second War Loan by about 40 percent. Co-State Chairmen H. Nelson McDougall and Edward E. Chase of the Maine Victory Fund Committee, reported in a final accounting of the drive.

The figures, show total sales, not including commercial bank buying for their own accounts, of $34,884,501 against a quota for the State of $25,000,000. Commercial banks bought for their own uses, $14,475,000 bringing the grand total to $49,359,501.

The number of sales, not including the Series E War Bonds, amounted to 5,026, which were largely to individuals. Although these sales in Maine exceeded the average in New England, their total is still unsatisfactory, it was declared, and must be improved in the next campaign.

Region No. 7, Oxford and Franklin Counties, made the best record exceeding its quota by 60 percent; No. 8, Cumberland and Sagadahoc, was second, with a surplus of 51 percent, and Region No. 9, York was third in surpassing its goal, by 49 percent. Region No. 1, Aroostook County, fourth, was 46 percent over its quota; Region No. 3, Penobscot and Piscataquis Counties, was fifth in the list with 27 percent over-the-top bond sale; Region No. 5, Kennebec and Somerset Counties, was sixth with an excess of 25 percent, while Region No. 2, seventh, Washington and Hancock Counties, exceeded its quota by 20 percent.

The two regions which did not exceed their quotas were No. 4 and No. 6. In No. 4, however, Waldo County was the first in the State to go over the top and Knox County achieved its goal soon after. Lincoln County failed to reach its allotment, thus bringing the total amount assigned to the region below the sum given it. It lacked only 9 percent of the established goal. Androscoggin County was 12 percent under its assigned quota.

Quotas, the Victory Fund Committee explains, are to be regarded only as estimates in which population, wealth, and income statistics are given weight, and the whole receives reasonable consideration by State Headquarters staff which in the light of results appears to have been reasonably intelligent.

Sophomore Speakers

First Place In Prize Speaking
Won By Ervin Wooster and

Ervin Wooster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel C. Wooster, won first place for boys, and Vina Delmonico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Delmonico, first place for girls, at the Sophomore Prize Speaking Contest in the High School Auditorium Tuesday night.

Mr. Wooster read "Cleaning the Garage," by Colin Clements; and Miss Delmonico's piece was "Good-night, Caroline," by Conrad Selzer.

Second place winners were George Berliawsky, son of Mrs. Anita Berliawsky, with "The Burgomaster's Death," and Jane Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald I. Abbott, the subject of her reading being "Wuthering Heights."

Others on the program were: Betty O'Brien, Donald Philbrook, Edith Carr, Norma Ramsdell, Betty Hempstead and Vance Norton. The judges were Milford A. Payson and Miss Ethel C. Oliver of Camden, and Rev. C. Vaughn Overman of Rockport. Prizes of $5 each to first place winners and $2.50 to second place, contributed by the Kiwanis Club, were presented by Rev. Mr. Overman, in the absence of Dr. Donald T. Leigh, president of the club.

Music was by the High School Band under the direction of George A. Law. Miss Aimee F. Karl was head usher and her assistants were Dorothy Harden and Virginia Farrell. Those ushering were: Elaine Achorn, Patricia Adams, Sylvia Christoffersen, Eleanor Curtis, Mary Lou Duff, Celia Herrick, Norma McChillis, Catherine Mullen, Beverly Rogers, Irene Roy and Elizabeth Sawyer. Dale C. Lindsey, president of the Sophomore Class, presided.

The Black Cat

(By The Roaming Reporter)

Watching the Knox County delegations as they left the selective service headquarters for the induction centers, the past year, I have felt many a twinge of regret as I waved goodbye to those whom I have intimately known. It was a double twinge I experienced Tuesday when there passed my coming tower two of my long-time baseball friends from Camden—Lawrence (Dool) Daily and Orion (Snake) Wadsworth, both of whom were bound away for what service I knew not and what field of battle I cannot even guess.

And my mind went back to other days when I saw them starring in High School athletics and later when they were helping bring glory to Camden teams in the Knox Twilight League. Fine ball players and fine young gentlemen always. Their friendship and their work on the diamond have brought me many a happy hour. I wish them God-speed as they go out into the truly unknown.

Up in Camden everybody who attends the baseball games is going to miss "Gramp" Wilbur, whose death occurred Wednesday. For more than four decades we have been sitting together in the bleachers following with undiminished interest the games of today and recalling those other days when we were members of the Rockland baseball team which won Statewide fame with Gray and Simonson as its battery.

Frank Wilbur made his debut in Rockland as member of a semi-professional team, after starring at Bates College. I do not recall a better infielder ever wearing a Rockland uniform. He was handicapped by being shoulder-bound, but his throws were speedy and accurate. He was not a heavy batter, but had the remarkable faculty of nearly always being able to reach first base. His ability to leap into the air and catch a line drive with a single, ungloved hand was little short of amazing. He was a baseball fan from the ground up; Camden has never had a more consistent one.

Book Review

(By K. S. F.)

"David"—a novel. Author Carroll T. Cooney, Jr. Publishers: Howell, Soskin Inc., New York.

David will wind his sweet and super-sensitive personality about your heart, with a lasting tenderness of deep emotional sureness. Not often do we find a writer with the clearness of interpretation of child reactions, that is shown in this tragically beautiful and almost heart-break story of little David and his innocent thoughts, as he tries to reason out the whys of life.

One scarcely could call it profound—yet the reason for and the wonder at events that his elders never took time to explain to him left him helpless and sad. The father and mother are not characters built with any particular staunchness or sweetness of personality. The father, rather crabbed and selfish, the mother of a sweeter nature but so absorbed in her own troubles she had little understanding of the depth of beauty of her little David who was always being sent away to play alone, when he most needed the thoughtful devoted love of mother comfort.

"This true heart-break of the story is eased with broad humor and quaint events in country life. There is a deep lesson for parents to take to heart in David. We, possibly not any of us stop long enough in life's hurried days, to explain and reason out for our children the great whys of life.

The author has the rare art of expressing his thoughts with cultural beauty of diction and poise in grace, along with truths that in the story make one realize that too many children are left to the care of maids and nurses with not enough thought given to their problems by parents.

When Carroll Cooney writes another book I hope to have the pleasure of reading it. I look for this young author to go far in the higher roads of literature in novel writing adventures.

"The Maine Idea." Stories and pictures arranged by Keith W. Johnson. Published by Harcourt, Brace & Company, New York.

Do you want your mouth to water for beauty; are you away from Maine and can't get back; do you live in Maine and love the allurements of her highways and byways and mountain peaks; do you love what this photographer calls Maine's two seasons—"July and Winter"—of course a joke. But we do have quite a lot of "weather" in Maine that is not Floridian in character. This man, with perfect pictures, gives all too few of characteristic views that tell a crisp clear story well called "The Maine Idea." These pictures are numbered and should be followed properly to get the essence of the author's ideas.

Opening with the most perfect village roadway view, not called street for obvious reasons; with a lovely little white church in the foreground. It's July. Next comes the need of furs for 'tis Winter.

WORKING FOR VICTORY

A FUTURE FREE OF WAR

"Now and then a civilian gives me a lift, buys me a drink. When I thank them, they usually reply, 'Well, it's the least we can do for you fellows in the service.' I don't care about the lifts, about the drinks. Not much, certainly. What I do care about is that those civilians try to plan a world which discourages war, that they rid themselves of prejudices of an anti-social character. It's little comfort to fight for a drink, a lift, a glad hand. What I want is that the future is free of war. I don't want anyone to feel indignant toward a young lad because he may be killed."

Capt. and Mrs. David L. Haskell of Ingraham Hill were pleased to hear from Lieut. James E. Murch, who is in North Africa. They received a communication May 19, which was dated April 30.

The committee which compiled the Rockland High School service list accidentally omitted the name of John S. Tyler, who was a member of the class of 1926, and who was one of the first to land in North Africa. He was aboard a United States ship which was torpedoed, and after being on the water 36 days was glad to set foot on land. He writes to members of the family that they have a radio at their gun position and occasionally get New York stations. His address is: Cpl. John S. Tyler, 32351681, Battery G, 2nd Bn. 213th C.A. (A.A.), A.P.O. 512, Postmaster, New York City.

Rockland Hitters Go On a Rampage At Expense Of Lincoln Academy

Rockland High journeyed to Damariscotta Tuesday and gathered 23 safe hits to smash Lincoln Academy 13 to 1. Dow, on the mound for Rockland gave up only 4 safeties for his second win of the year. Johnston went the distance for Lincoln and he might have done a better job had he had better backing in the field.

Rockland pushed across three tallies in the opening frame and two more in the second to lead 5 to 1. The Lime City boys opened up with a five run rally in the eighth and in the bottom half of the ninth they drove in their final runs.

Lincoln scored their lone run in the initial inning on an error and two bases on balls. Box score:

him. He is strong and quite capable of taking care of himself." A few days before Mr. and Mrs. Chaples received this communication, a bunch of letters written by Donald, were received and another lot came in a day or so after the Red Cross letter was received.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl U. Chaples of Rockland had not heard from their son, Pfc. Donald U. Chaples, for several weeks and so wrote the American Red Cross requesting word from their field director. A letter was received in good time from George J. McDonald, stationed at the Field Office in North Africa. In his letter he wrote, I am very happy to advise you your son is quite well and he has not neglected to write to you. He visits the Red Cross club, which is near his unit, quite regularly. I know your son quite well and will say that he is a splendid soldier and there is no need to worry about

Marines Are Wearing.

This smart forest green uniform is now being worn by members of the U. S. Marine Corps Women's Reserve, recently organized to free Leathernecks for combat duty. Aside from a flared skirt, the only striking difference from the regulation Marine winter uniform is a scarlet cord decorating the front of the visored cap. A scarlet wool muffler is a feminine complement to the top coat.

It's A People's War

We are paying more in taxes than ever before... and likely will pay more. But we cannot rely on taxes to finance the war. It would not be fair to base a tax on the average single family income when many families have more than one income. We could borrow all the money from the banks, but for both economic and social reasons this is undesirable. The government would then sacrifice its greatest dam against inflation. This is a People's War and the people should finance it. The people WANT to finance it. Sale of War Bonds has mounted consistently since Pearl Harbor. They give their lives... You lend your money.

Aching, Sore Muscles?

Two or three applications of Moore's Emerald Oil after opening up the pores with a good hot towel and in fifteen minutes the pains and soreness is eased. A few more applications at regular intervals and the almost unbearable soreness goes.

It's a wonderful formula—a combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually.

Every good druggist guarantees Moore's Emerald Oil to give you complete satisfaction or money back.

Six Big R. K. O. Acts

Al Moore Will Bring Vaudeville-Dance Here
Thursday

Happy Stanley, famous R.K.O. vaudeville star, who features Thursday night's program.

Al Moore's show and dance will be at Rockland Community Building, Thursday night at 8 o'clock with six big vaudeville acts and a gala dance. It's tops in entertainment.

The vaudeville unit, one of the finest folks of Knox County will ever have an opportunity to see, is headed by Happy Stanley, his banjo and his songs. Other famous entertainers in the show are: Ray Pike, "King of Jugglers;" Al Ellis, "The Mad Magician," outstanding comedy act of magic; James Skelton, "Old Man River Himself," has played the finest theatres and night clubs in the United States and Europe; Dunedin and Donald, in "Cleaning Up," a novel comedy and Bud and Elinor Cott, two young good looking entertainers in "Rhythmic and Music" excellent entertainers.

Packing Alewives

Ramsdells To Start Sardine Canning When Fish Arrive—Help Problem

The Ramsdell Packing Company commenced operations for the season this week. Arrangements have been made to purchase the entire run of alewives from the Town of Warren and these are being packed, by a comparatively small crew, in round cans.

Mrs. Fred E. Trecartin, treasurer of the company, said yesterday that the fish will probably run about four weeks. Seventy barrels were received at the plant Thursday.

The packing of sardines will be started as soon as a sufficient supply of fish are received. There are reports of some herring in the section and it is hoped that packing may be commenced early in June. It is not expected that there will be a large pack as the problem of help is serious this year.

Last year's pack was around 100,000 cases, about 75% of which were taken by the U. S. Government. Sardine boats: The Stag, Capt. Arthur Matthews, and the Campobello, Capt. Alfred Lord, are tied up at Spruce Head, but are ready to go into service on short notice.

The president of company, Alvin C. Ramsdell, and Mrs. Ramsdell, are still in Coral Gables, Florida, where they have been spending the Winter. They have made train reservations for the trip north May 27.

A. W. and R. C. Gregory have returned from attendance at the New England Retail Clothiers and Furnishers' Convention in Boston.

At the annual meeting of the Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church in Portland Tuesday Mrs. Keryn ap Rice of Rockland was elected one of the vice presidents.

The shoe dealers of Rockland have an advertisement on page 3 of this issue asking all patrons not to bring their shoe coupons loose when buying shoes. The O.P.A. is to vigorously prosecute the law which says that coupons used in the purchase of shoes must be attached to the ration book.

Capt. and Mrs. William H. Wincapaw of Tottenville, Staten Island, who have been visiting friends in Rockland and vicinity a few days, returned home today. Captain Wincapaw recently came from Barranquilla, Colombia, where he has been engaged in transporting supplies, by air, to gold mining locations some 60 to 110 miles inland. He was accompanied home from Florida by Mrs. Wincapaw. Capt. Wincapaw showed colored moving pictures of the country where he has been flying before a group of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner P. Whitney one evening this week. Capt. and Mrs. Wincapaw visited one day with Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Grindle, Old County road.

It takes approximately 700 transport vessels of all types to land a modern invasion army. It would take about the same number to keep them supplied, presuming the soldiers were no more than 3000 miles from this country's shores.

Frank H. Wilbur

Death of Well Known Camden Man, Prominent As Teacher and Baseball Player

Funeral services for Frank H. Wilbur, who died Tuesday in Camden will be held at the First Congregational Church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Winfield Witham officiating. The bearers will be J. H. Hobbs, J. A. Brewster, Dr. W. Lee Dickens, A. U. Dougherty, Pedro Fernandez and Capt. William Stanley.

The death of Frank Wilbur has brought sorrow into every home in the town of Camden for there it was that he served as principal of the Grammar School for 23 years, earning the affection and esteem of the hundreds of pupils who were members of his school. Twelve terms as selectman proved his popularity with the voters, and his efficiency as a municipal worker.

He was in Portland 85 years ago he was educated in the Lewiston public schools and at Bates College, where he gained fame as a baseball player. After leaving college in 1881 he played semi-professionally, and was a member of the Rockland team which flourished in the 90s, and which now has but four survivors. He also played with the Camden locals, and since discarding his uniform had missed very few games played by Camden teams down through the years. "Gramp" Wilbur's presence in the bleachers, was always hailed, and the younger generations heard the story of his wonderful ability as a player.

He was a member of the Masonic bodies, and the Odd Fellows, an honorary member of Camdentown Business Men's Club, Seaside Chapter, O.E.S., and Camden Lodge No. 81, K. of P., being active in all until ill health and age prevented.

Mr. Wilbur is survived by his wife Etta (Tyler), a daughter, Mrs. Robert Jamieson; two sons, Forrest and Howard Wilbur, all of Camden; two grandchildren, Mrs. Virginia Holt of Brookline, Mass., and Harold Wilbur of Camden; and four great-grandchildren.

CHAPTER XII

"At about this time the skipper showed up. He told us about the trip for Quezon and the damage to the 35 boat, which he had towed into Cebu for repairs. He was still out hunting for the 32 boat, which hadn't been seen since he left it to rendezvous with the submarine on the MacArthur trip, and he had one-third of the entire American air force of the southern Philippines out combing the island channels for her. One-third of this American southern Philippine air force consisted of exactly one Beechcraft commercial pleasure plane, which when we started had been commandeered from a civilian, and an army major who flew Bulkeley around in it. The other two-thirds were a wheezy P-40 and a very tired P-35. Bulkeley risked his neck for days in this search, not knowing, of course, that the 32 boat had been sunk and her commander was now safely en route to Australia.

"The skipper was frantic to get some of our little fleet back into commission so we could finish out the fight. We'd started the war with six boats. Two were lost off Bataan. One was lost on the escape trip south. That left only three, and two of these were wrecks, fit only for the dry dock, Bulkeley's being the only craft left in fighting condition. But he was bound to get the others back into shape. Did I think I could get mine to Cebu? It was the second largest city in the Philippines and they had a real machine shop—no dry dock but a marine railway, one of those contraptions where a track goes down the beach into the sea. You load the boat onto a small car and winch it up the track.

"Well, we could try, and we started off our poor old boat with her earthquake making twelve knots, her back end wiggling like a shipwrecked sailor's dream of a French musical-comedy star. Whatever she was good for now, it wasn't fighting, and I was glad we didn't meet any Japs.

"The machine shop was run by 'Dad' Cleland, a seventy-one-year-old American who'd been in the islands since 1914, and a swell gent he was—originally from Minnesota and a typical hulking frontiersman. Didn't look a day over fifty and was a kind of patriarch in those parts. His native name meant 'the old man' or 'the headman' in Tagalog.

"He was a great gourmet, too. Had Bulkeley and me out to dinner and we had bottled beer (a great rarity), a big crab-meat cocktail, and then lobster Newburg, which was delicious, but 'Dad' kept warning us to hold back, because then he broke out a couple of roast ducks. 'Dad' and I divided the biggest duck between us and had all we could hold. The skipper here, on account of his rank, rated a duck all to himself. On the side there were canned asparagus and corn, pickles and sweet potatoes.

"Dessert was simple, like the last bars of a symphony. Just delicious chilled mangoes and Chase & Sanborn's coffee. It was a magnificent feed after the native chow I'd been eating up, unless miraculous help arrived soon.

"What are you going to do when the Japs come? We asked 'Dad.' He straightened up—all six feet two of him.

"Have my dignity to think about," he said. "I'm not going to the hills. I'll stay right here and face them. They can get me if they can, but they'll have a fight on their hands first."

"Dad" was working for the government for a dollar a year. When he finally finished with our repairs—they took many days—we asked him how much the bill was. "We'll forget about it," he said. "You fight 'em and I'll fix 'em. It's the least I can do."

"He clenched his big fist, and it was about the size of a nail keg. Since we came back here I've read about some outfits working on war contracts who were paying their stenographers fifty thousand dollars a year and charging it to the government as expenses until they were caught. It's a waste of time to indict them. Just get old 'Dad' Cleland back here and let him go in and reason with them in their swivel chairs. With those big fists of his, he'd know how to expostulate with racketeers like that."

"Until we got to Cebu we hadn't been paid since the war started. Well, in Cebu the men all got paid and it was quite a spectacle. The dozen on my boat, going from bar to bar, got rid of two thousand dollars in three days. If it had been two million instead, they would have got rid of it just as quick, although it might have strained them some. Then they settled back to their routine means of livelihood, which was playing poker with the army.

"But there was moving in Cebu, and very secretly we began to hear hints of a big American offensive which was coming rolling up from the south through the islands in time to save Bataan, which was almost out of food and ammunition. Word came that two submarines were arriving in Cebu, where they would be loaded with food and returned to Bataan—we brought the first one in through the channel.

"It was a big secret—the area was cleared of two miles around. The loading was done at night and by officers only—we helped until our hands were raw—because they were fearful that some sailor or soldier might drop a hint of it in a native bar where it would get to the Japs. For three solid nights we worked until my back and arms ached, stowing all that stuff in the subs, but all the time I kept thinking of Peggy and the grand old gang up there on the Rock and what was left of the peninsula—fighting on without hope or food. Well, here was a little of both we were sending them. To make more room they stripped the submarines of torpedoes—gave 'em to us, four for the 35 boat if I could ever get her into action, two for the 41 boat, which already had two, and charged them for us with compressed air from the submarine's tanks. Now MTB's were ready for battle, and into the submarine's empty tubes we stuffed food, and I kept thinking, as we shoved it in—there's another square meal for Peggy back there on the Rock.

"But that wasn't half of it. Because in addition to the subs—the last one shoved off on April 5—there were seven fast interisland steamers being secretly loaded with food down near 'Dad' Cleland's dock—medical supplies, quinine the boys were fighting without, everything they needed to hold on. But how could they hope to get these fat little tubs up through the islands to Bataan? Bulkeley was to find out three days later."

"The General in command at Cebu called me in and verified the hints we'd heard of the big American offensive," said Bulkeley. "He assured me everything was set. It was to start at dawn the very next morning. That very night, twelve fortresses and heavy bombers were coming up from Australia. A swarm of P-35's were on their way up from Mindanao to Iloilo, where they were to gas up and go into action.

"The bombers were to land at Mindanao, gas up, take off, and blow the be-Jesus out of every Jap warship in the region, and meanwhile the convoy of interisland steamers would start for Bataan, bringing food enough for weeks. Bataan was to be saved after all.

"He clenched his big fist, and it was about the size of a nail keg."

"The General showed me messages from all the other generals who commanded in different islands, co-ordinating the offensive. But there was one minor hitch, he explained.

"Aerial reconnaissance had spotted a couple of Jap dive bombers steaming down the coast of Negros Island. Somewhat to the eastward there was a cruiser which carried four seaplanes, but they weren't worried about it. But that afternoon reports had come in giving the progress of the Jap destroyers. Obviously they were heading toward Cebu. Maybe they had broken down about the interisland steamers, and were coming in either to blockade them or to shell them at the dock.

"Why couldn't we have a part in this great offensive which tomorrow was to sweep up and blast Jap shipping and warships between Mindanao, Cebu, and Bataan?" Lieutenant Kelly thought. "We could be helpful by going out tonight and knocking off one or both of those Jap destroyers, which by midnight should be approaching the narrow channel between Cebu and Negros Islands. The cruiser—never mind her, American bombers would polish her off in the morning."

"Bulkeley came in at eight o'clock that night and told me about it," said Kelly. "My boat had been in the water just four hours—she was supposed to soak for twenty-four before she should be exposed to any pounding, but I asked him if we couldn't go out with him. I was hoping you'd like to," the skipper told me. "Think you can make it?" "I don't know," I said, "but we'll soon find out. This'll be as good a dock trial for her as any."

"To man the boats I called for volunteers," said Bulkeley. "I had no trouble about that. I guess they understood by now that any man who doesn't volunteer won't be in the squadron long if I can get rid of him."

"They were all tickled to be in on the big offensive," said Kelly. "It was apparently so well prepared that the army had given us the radio frequency of the co-ordinating planes—that big American air umbrella which would be spread over us at dawn—in case we needed to talk with them."

"We got out to the island passage about 11:30 that night and sneaked in close to shore," said Bulkeley. "The moon wasn't due until 2:30. I was riding in the 41 boat, Ensign Cox commanding, while Kelly had his 34 boat. We'd worked out our strategy. If two destroyers showed up, my boat was to tackle the leading one and Kelly the second. If only one arrived, my boat would attack her on the quarter, and Kelly's on the bow.

"At five minutes to twelve Glover, the quartermaster at the wheel, called 'Look—there she is! A black object was coming round the point. Jumping Jesus!' said Glover. 'There she is!'—because it was no little Jap destroyer but a thundering big Kuma class cruiser sliding around that point—so clear we could almost make out her 6-inch guns."

"I gave our boat a hard right rudder, sneaking in toward the shore where the cruiser couldn't see us. Apparently she was alone. Now we curved out, into firing position, on her port beam, making as little noise as we could, and as she passed, five hundred yards away, Cox fired two torpedoes, but they straddled her."

"We fired two from our side," said Kelly, "but they also missed." "After that," said Ensign Cox, "we in the 41 boat made a wide arc and attacked again with our last two torpedoes—Bulkeley himself firing them, and this time two of them hit, right under the bridge. They made no flash, but a good bump and a column of water. But even before that the cruiser had waked up—probably saw the wakes of one of the torpedoes—anyway she speeded up to twenty-five knots and her searchlight came on and she waved it wildly around in the air, probably looking for torpedo planes."

"Our torpedoes were all gone in the 41 boat," said Bulkeley, "but I turned around and ran astern of the cruiser to draw her fire so Kelly could get in for his second attack. Then we saw the destroyers, but they wouldn't give chase, although I tried to create the illusion of a lot of boats by firing machine-gun tracers."

"When the cruiser's searchlight came on," said Kelly, "I turned right to cross her wake and came in on her other quarter. She picked me up astern with her lights and began banging away at me with her secondary batteries—50-calibers and millimeter guns—from about twelve hundred yards. The stuff was going right over our heads in a continuous stream of fire.

"But I was good and mad because our first torpedoes had missed," said Kelly, "so I decided to chase her. I told one machine-gunner to fire at her searchlight, which was blinding me, and the others to sweep her decks to get her crew crews."

"After a few minutes' chase, we had closed in to three hundred yards—so close that her searchlight seemed to be coming right down on us from an angle—about like the sun in mid-afternoon. Then I drew out onto her starboard quarter and fired our last two torpedoes—an overtake shot. They were the last two our squadron was to fire in the war."

"Then I gave the boat a hard right rudder and swung away—our war was defenseless now except for our machine guns. But the rain of Jap tracers kept right on, and suddenly another Jap ship showed up fifteen hundred yards away. Both started firing their main batteries at me and we were trapped between—splashes all around us now, as close as twenty-five yards. We started zigzagging wildly, trying to dodge the two searchlights, and also the stream of fire which was crisscrossing above our heads like wicked baskets, and landing in the water all around us. It seemed like weeks, but was probably only a few seconds. My junior officer, Ensign Richardson, had the wheel, while I was watching the cruiser through my binoculars. Suddenly I saw a big splash and detonation in the middle of her belly—another two seconds. Another splash and detonation right in her engine room! Our overtake shots had both hit home! Her searchlight went from bright yellow to orange to red to dull brick-red and finally winked out. Every gun stopped firing. She was jet-black now.

"But I didn't have much time for philosophizing, because this other destroyer was on my starboard bow, closing in, banging away with her 5½-inch guns and me with only 50-caliber machine guns left."

"Kelly got twenty-three salvos of 5½-inch steel that night," said Bulkeley. "But there was no doubt

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTESTHET, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly. So they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTESTHET at any drug store.

Frankowski-Curtis

Pie—Oliver Walter Frankowski and Hazel Louise Curtis of this town, were united in marriage Saturday night by Rev. Charles A. Marsteller. They were attended by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Curtis.

The bride wore a flowered white Jersey dress and a corsage of talismans roses.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Frankowski. A buffet lunch was served and the wedding cake was cut by the bride. Those who assisted in serving were Mrs. Earl Titus, Mrs. Charles Heino, Mrs. Francis Cayton, and Mrs. William Sibiski. A purse of money was presented to the newlyweds.

Those present at the reception were: Anthony, Alfred and Virginia Frankowski, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cayton, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Curtis and daughters Shirley, Beulah and Ruth, Mrs. Kate Evansky and daughter Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Titus and son Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heino and children, Anna and Charles, William W. Sibiski, U.S.N.R., and Mrs. Sibiski, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Turner daughter Glenice and son Leland, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Maki, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Marshall, Mrs. Alice M. Spear and son Nilo, Mrs. Hilma Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pietroski, Mrs. Hazel Robbins, Miss Arlene Robbins Herbert Libby, Miss Barbara Ulmer and Clarence Morrison.

The newlyweds attended school in this community.

The young couple left Tuesday for Fort Sheridan Ill., where the groom is stationed. The bride's traveling suit was blue with white accessories.

Music for dancing was furnished by Anna and Charles Heino, Leland Turner, Clarence Morrison, and Hazel Robbins. Mrs. Jennie Pietroski sang vocal solos throughout the evening.

Best wishes are expressed to the young couple.

What Is Inflation?

Do you have excess cash? You will answer, "No." But the fact remains that you do. For almost every wage earner these days has an income, in checkbook or pocketbook, well above the cost of his living, taxes, insurance and debt repayments.

You never actually "bid" against anybody for a porterhouse steak, but when you take the spending of all average Americans as a group, it's a different story. So it is important that excess money be saved rather than used collectively to bid up prices. If it is spent, instead of saved, prices soar. . . . That's inflation.

Ideally, it should be invested in Government securities during the Second War Loan. "They give their lives . . . You lend your money."

The expression "tar" to describe a sailor originated from the days when seamen impregnated their clothing with tar to make them waterproof.

Knox County W. C. T. U. Holds Its Annual Convention In Thomaston

The 56th annual convention of the Knox County Woman's Christian Temperance Union, was held in the Federated Church, Thomaston, Monday with morning and afternoon sessions.

Miss Margaret Crandon, county president, called the meeting to order at 10:30 a. m. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. H. W. Flagg, who brought an encouraging message on "Faith."

The report of the recording secretary, Mrs. Clara Sawyer, showed three unions, Rockland, Camden and Thomaston carrying on active work; Appleton and Friendship, paying dues and some work reported; Rockland and Camden Light Line Unions; Camden and Thomaston Holdfast and Fruitful Unions. Special work had been the local option campaign of last September circulating petitions for the Shepard and Dryson bill, and Alcohol Education.

Good reports for department work were given by Mrs. Lilla Clark for Flower Missions and Relief, Mrs. Kate Brawn for Temperance and Missions, Mrs. Clara Emery for Alcohol Education and Publicity.

Greetings from the State President, Mrs. Augusta Christie, were read by Mrs. Clara Emery. A letter from Mrs. Bisbee, director of the department of Soldiers and Sailors was read by Mrs. Susie Lamb. Noontime Prayer was offered by Mrs. Emery and the meeting adjourned for dinner, which was served under supervision of Mrs. Hubert Leach and Mrs. Eleanor Clark.

At the executive meeting the following appointments were made for county districts: Departments of Alcohol Education and Child Welfare, Mrs. Clara Emery; Evangelistic, Mrs. Hubert Leach; Exhibits, to be supplied; Flower Mission and Relief, Mrs. Lilla Clark; Institutes, Mrs. Minnie Yates; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Mary P. Rich; Literature, Mrs. Susie Lamb; International Relations and Motion Pictures, Mrs. Clara Sawyer; L.T.L., Mrs. Helen Overman; Press and Speech Contests, Mrs. Clara Emery; Temperance and Missions, Mrs. Kate Brawn; Religious Education, Mrs. Ellen Hempstead; Medical Temperance and Narcotics, Mrs. Mabel Heald.

Rev. Hubert Leach of Thomaston conducted devotions at the afternoon session, bringing a message on "Love." Mrs. Clara Sawyer conducted the Memorial Service for the following deceased members: Appleton, Mrs. Meservey, Miss Adna Pittman William Newbert, honorary; Camden, Mrs. Melinda Oxford, Mrs. Clara Pullen; Rockland, Rev. Helen Hyde Carlson, Mrs. Nellie Perry, Mrs. Emma Shaw, Mrs. Jeanette Duntion, Mrs. Margaret Oxtun and Mrs. Estelle Seliger.

Miss Regina Moede, National field secretary and convention speaker, gave a lively and interesting presentation of the literature on display and for sale, showing how and what could be used effectively in programs and department work. She urged members to subscribe for the Union Signal, the official organ of the organization, and learn more about the work that is being done in Washington, D. C. and for the war effort, and be able to tell others about what the W.C.T.U. is doing.

Miss Moede gave the new manner of saluting the flag, recently adopted, the left hand at the side, the right hand placed over the heart during the salute.

A new work for the Flower Mission Department was gathering up used baby clothes and send to the mothers in remote mountain section, where it is much needed.

Grow a bed of tea herbs in the Victory gardens and get Mrs. Pennington's new booklets on how to serve them. Use "Arguments to The Old Judge Says," to offset wet propaganda. The Baptist Church School will convene at 9:30. There are classes for all ages. Worship service will be at 11 with sermon by the pastor

Dryson and Shepard bills now before Congress by letters and petitions. It is acknowledged that the pressure of public opinion for some protective dry legislation at the service camps, caused Gen. Marshall to invoke the anti-canteen law of 1901—and issued the order to withdraw all liquors from the officers mess.

Unions should subscribe to the Frances Willard Fund which maintains a Home Missionary worker in the States of scattered settlements and few churches, organizing the women in W.C.T.U. units.

In concluding Miss Moede stated that dry sentiment is on the increase as noted by the Brewers and Distillers, the South is coming back fast, and Maine, that is 60 percent dry holds a strategic place in the north sector of States.

These resolutions were adopted: That we reaffirm our belief that legal prohibition of the liquor traffic and total abstinence of the habit is still the best method of dealing with the alcohol problem.

That we promote interest in the passage of dry bills before Congress as the best means of helping to win the war.

That we endeavor to organize and educate the children in Y.T.C.'s L.T.L.'s or other groups, and make more active use of our literature.

That we extend the thanks of the Convention to the Thomaston Union for their entertainment and to the officers of the church for use of their edifice.

Mrs. Clara Sawyer, Mrs. Clara Emery, Mrs. Grace Colburn.

All officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. C. E.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When the kidneys are tired, they stop filtering up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with a burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. ## Edward L. Manning Has Had Brilliant Career At Bangor Theological Seminary

One of Camden's promising young men is to graduate from Bangor Theological Seminary at its 124th "Anniversary Week" commencing today and lasting through Tuesday, May 25.

He is Edward L. Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Manning of Limerock street, Camden. Edward was a graduate of Camden High School in the class of 1934, and after his High School course spent some time in local yachting circles where he sailed and took care of one of the HAJ racing sloops becoming very popular along the waterfront.

He took an early interest in church activities and was a very ardent member of the Baptist Young People's Forum. It was through the influence of this church group and the help and inspiration that he received from his former pastor, Rev. W. F. Brown that he decided to study for the ministry.

He entered the Seminary in the Fall of 1938 for its five-year course in Theology and associated subjects. While in the Seminary, Edward entered into the many school activities—academic, social and athletic—with equal spirit. He was a member of the Glee Club

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By the Pupils

At a joint meeting of the teachers of the High School and McLain buildings, Dr. Richard Kennan, Secretary of the Maine Teachers Association, gave a very timely and instructive outline of facts and figures which he gained from attending a committee hearing on S. 637, a bill calling for increased federal aid to the individual States for educational purposes.

Dr. Kennan said that the hearing disclosed some startling and disturbing trends, opposed to the best interests of education, which were developing in Washington. He quoted quotes and names which ought to make every teacher alert to the fact that all is not well with public education in America today.

Opposition to the bill, says Dr. Kennan, comes from three sources. First: A little group of selfish individuals who are backed by a powerful lobby. Second: Certain religious groups, and thirdly, Federal educational agencies.

"Education," says Dr. Kennan, "faces a crisis. We can do something about it." He urged teachers to get a copy of the bill and then write his Senator asking him to support it, if not when it comes up for debate.

The annual initiation of the National Honor Society was held at 3 p. m., this afternoon in the auditorium, with many guests attending. The ceremony was conducted in the usual way with Mr. Smith as Sponsor; Douglas Perry, Regent; Ralvan Welker, Torch Bearer; Richard Simmons, Flag Bearer; Kenneth Mignault, Trumpeter; and Donald Brewster, Chaplain. The Wardens, who were elected members last year, were Barrett Jordan representing Scholarship; Leona Wellman, Service; Virginia Forster, Character; and Robert Coffey, Leadership. The program opened and closed with the playing of "Poem," by Flibch, by Sandra Hallowell. Throughout the impressive candlelight ceremony, the Girls Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Sanborn, sang two numbers, "Follow the Glean," and "I would Be True," accompanied by Sandra Hallowell. The initiates were: seniors, Pauline Beal, Dorothy Carlson, Dorothy Havener, Ann Olds, Nathan McConchee, Margorie Mills, Marjorie Wiggin, and Mary Wotton; juniors, Alice Hall, Raymond Chisholm, Elizabeth Holmes, Byron Keene, and Jason Thurston. Candidates are selected for the qualities of leadership, scholarship, service and character, and is considered the highest honor that the school can give.

Sometimes Mrs. Dorman slips in a surprise menu—Thursday she served chicken pie, boiled onions, mashed potato, apricot sauce, cookie and fruit juice. Next week's menus: Monday, Scalloped eggs, baked potato, endive, cornmeal muffins, butterscotch pudding, and milk; Tuesday, meat loaf, mashed potato, buttered carrots, graham muffins, pear cobbler, and milk; Wednesday, macaroni and cheese, jellyed tomato salad, whole wheat rolls, apricot whip, and milk; Thursday, frankfurts, scalloped potato, turnip, oatmeal bread, prunes, cookie, and milk; Friday, fish chowder, cheese biscuits, pickle, spice cup cake, and milk.

All junior and senior girls met Wednesday morning with Dr. Francis L. Bailey, principal of Gorham State Normal School, and two Gorham students, Lucie Dickens and Pearl Hart. They told of life at Gorham, the opportunities offered there, and the great shortage of teachers now.—Bernice Stanley.

The Class Ode has been written for the Class of 1943 by Josephine Buckminster.

Principal Baisdel announced the following elections to Junior High National Honor Society at Wednesday morning's assembly: Mary Sawyer, Carolyn Howard, Patricia Dodge, Anna Helms, John Solides, Lucy MacLaughlin, Jane Perry, Leslie Crowley, Robert Gatcombe, Oliver Holden, Beverly Merchant, Irene Anderson, Elizabeth Fraser. These elections are made on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service and character.

A track meet is scheduled for Wednesday, May 26, with Lincoln. It is the only meet to be held this year.

Onni Kangas of the beginner's shorthand class and Fred Morrison of the office practice class assisted Principal Baisdel in the office this week.

The girls' scitball team of Rockland High has practiced every Tuesday and Thursday night after school. The only games scheduled for the year are with Thomaston

High. The games are going to be played May 26 and 27.

An Allied Youth Chartering Ceremony was held Tuesday afternoon, at which time Dr. Richard B. Kennan, executive secretary of the Maine Teachers' Association, presented the charter for Post 227 of the Allied Youth Conference to this newly formed organization here.

Allied Youth, Inc., is a national organization in alcohol education with Posts organized in high schools, colleges, and communities. It is non-sectarian, non-partisan, non-political-youth-led, and youth-inspired. Any student may join.

Dr. Kennan gave an inspiring talk. He stressed the need for physical fitness in the production program and in the battle for victory. Following his talk, Dr. Kennan presented the four symbols of Allied Youth: The torch, standing for enlightenment; to Raymond Chisholm, president; the shield, for vigilance, to Fred E. Allen, vice president; the wreath, for victory, to Elaine Glendenning, secretary; golden cord, for unity, to Betty Doliver, treasurer.

The 63 members received membership cards. Rev. Alfred G. Hempstead gave the invocation. Miss Marion Ludwick and Lewis Sturtevant are co-sponsors of the group. A huge American flag, loaned by Gloria Witham, was hung at the back of the stage. The ceremony closed with the singing of the Allied Youth song, with Betty Holmes as accompanist.

This And That

By K. S. F.

The influx of girls on a mid-western newspaper brought up the problem of just how to summon them. It didn't seem quite cricket to bawl out "Boy!" at the pert young things. It was solved for all time when one of the copy desk crew shouted, "Miss Boy!"

The Winged Word, a poetry quarterly, Spring issue, has arrived at my desk and is a great credit to the State and to the editor, Sheldon Christian with his associate editors, Mrs. Jessie Wheeler, Freeman and Marjorie Johnson. No shortage of poetic meat of the finest flavor and beauty in this issue. Contributions from Maine, New York, California, Massachusetts, Kansas, Virginia and North Carolina, even from Eire. Also book reviews of interest with short articles valuable to the poetic mind. Congratulations to you, Mr. Christian.

Deliberate Old Lady (who has been taking a lot of time in selecting her purchase): "But I don't think this is lamb. It looks to me like mutton."

Exasperated Butcher: "It was lamb when I first showed it to you, mam."

It isn't too late for weenies and sauer kraut and its a grand old dish if made this way:

Three cups raw sauer kraut, one sour apple, one cup water, three tablespoons fat, two tablespoons chopped onion, six "franks."

Quarter apple and place in double boiler with sauer kraut and water. Cook slowly 2 1/2 hours, adding a little more water from time to time so kraut doesn't cook dry. Cut franks into 2-inch slices. Add with onions to fat heated in frying pan. Simmer a few minutes, then place in dish in oven with kraut and cook 20 minutes more.

Honored—Dr. Stanislas Sleszko, instructor in bacteriology at the University of Maine and assistant plant pathologist in the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, has received notification of his election as a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. E. R. Hitchner, head of the department of bacteriology, said that Dr. Sleszko's election was a recognition of his outstanding research in the field of bacteriology. Dr. Sleszko has been associated with the University of Maine since 1939. Before coming to America he was professor of bacteriology in the University of Krakow, Poland, where he conducted investigations in medical and agricultural bacteriology.

The record keepers say that never before in the history of publishing has a new book had such a large first-week sale as Mr. Wendell Wilkie's "One World." Because much of it is of a contemporary nature, or "journalistic," this phenomenal initial sale does not necessarily mean that the book will be ranked as the all-time best seller when the returns are in a few years from now. Its total may not even surpass "Gone With the Wind" or some of the exceedingly popular "uplift" books. Who knows?

But one thing is obvious: Mr. Wilkie's performance as an author serves to draw sharp attention once more to the man and his ideas. It proves, moreover, that there is a vast public, made up largely of persons who do not ordinarily read many books, which is intensely concerned about the matters Mr. Wilkie discusses and which is eager to hear what he has to say. As a document bearing on the tragic urgency of the times it is being compared to Tom Paine's "Common Sense," which in its day had an astonishing sale, being read avidly by colonists who had been accustomed only to reading the Bible and, possibly, an almanac. And there is one more parallel: neither Tom Paine nor Wendell Wilkie sought any of the financial profits of successful authorship. Each man simply wanted to say something, and each said it with uncommon vigor and clarity. This additional proof was not needed, but his success as an author is another indication that this is no time to sell Mr. Wilkie short.

"Here's to Solomon and David And their merry, merry lives, To many, many girl friends, And their many, many wives. But when old age came creeping, With its many, many qualms, Solomon wrote the proverbs, And David wrote the psalms."

STANFORD-LOVEJOY

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice F. Lovejoy announce the marriage of their daughter Avis, at the Penny Memorial Church in Augusta, Wednesday to Carrington Mason Stanford, son of Admiral Homer F. Stanford, U.S.N., retired, of the Chevy Chase Club, Chevy Chase, Md. Mr. Stanford is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, and a member of the Royal Ocean Racing Club, of England and the Cruising Club of America. Mr. and Mrs. Stanford will make their home at Beech Hill Farm, Wayne, Maine.

ROBERTS-AMES

A quiet wedding ceremony took place on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ames of School street, Rockport, when their daughter, Mildred was united in marriage to Pfc. Lamont Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Roberts of West Rockport.

The double ring service was performed by Rev. C. Vaughn Overman, pastor of Rockport Baptist Church in the presence of the immediate relatives of the couple and classmates of the bride.

Miss Margaret Ames, sister of the bride and Miss Nancy Ingraham acted as bridesmaids, with James Roberts, brother of the groom serving as best man.

Mrs. Roberts is a member of Rockport High School graduating class of 1943. Mr. Roberts, who is in the Ordnance Dept. of the armed forces, now stationed at Camp Sutton North Carolina, is also a graduate of Rockport High School class of 1942. Those present at the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ames, Miss Margaret Ames, Miss Leona Ames, Granville Ames, Mrs. James Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Whitmore, Miss Lillian Whitmore, Miss Nancy Ingraham, Miss Barbara McKenney, Miss Alice MacDonald, Miss Earlene Davis, Miss Mary Dauceatt and Mrs. Barbara Grafton.

The couple, with the best wishes of many friends, will spend their honeymoon with relatives.

SARAH E. LAWRENCE

Death came Tuesday to Sarah Elizabeth (Stearns) widow of James H. Lawrence at the family home, 12 Ulmer street. Deceased had been ill since November.

Born in Rockland, May 30, 1867, Mrs. Lawrence had always resided in this city. Quiet and home loving, her life had been devoted to her family, her passing not long ante-dating that of her late husband. She is survived by a daughter Mrs. Fred True of this city, a grand-daughter, Mrs. Frank Leuge of Madison, a brother, William E. Stearns and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Burpee Funeral Home with Dr. John Smith Lowe of the Church of Immanuel, Universalist, officiating. Interment will be in Achnon Cemetery.

I stood beside her, held her hand, Beheld her labored breath, Her feeble pulse, her wasted form, So soon to be in death. I asked her if she suffered pain "Just tired," she replied, And closed her eyes again to find Her rest and than she died. Just as a weary little child Lies down at close of day, With not a fear or thought of death To sleep the night away. How precious in the sight of God The death of such a saint So let me pass from life some day "And go without complaint."

PARRY-McBEATH

The Mayfair Congregational Church in Sioux City, Iowa, was the scene of the wedding of Dr. Edward Davies Parry of Moline, Iowa, and Barbara Frances McBeath of Rockland, the ceremony taking place May 16 at 4 o'clock.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of soft rose embroidered in shades of blue and wore blue accessories. She carried roses. The matron of honor wore a suit of soft green and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, Dr. Ruth McBeath, mother of the bride, entertained at a dinner in a private dining room of the Mayfair Hotel, after which the couple left on a brief wedding trip. They will reside in Moline, Iowa, where Dr. Parry is in practice.

DEJAYNES-WADSWORTH

Miss Elsie Marie Wadsworth of Vinalhaven and Harry A. C. DeJaynes of Omaha, Neb., were united in marriage by Rev. Alfred G. Hempstead at the home of the officiating clergyman in Rockland Tuesday. The bride is a daughter of the late Robert T. Wadsworth and Mrs. Emmeline L. Wadsworth of Vinalhaven. The groom is a member of the Coast Guard, stationed at Whitehead. The couple were attended by Miss Dorothy Swears and Michael J. Porla. The double ring service was used.

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

PORTLAND HEAD

Mrs. Rufus Miller of Rockland is guest of the Hills.

R. T. Sterling was in Portland on business Tuesday.

The Hills and Mrs. R. T. Sterling called Saturday on Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mitchell in South Portland.

Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Sterling were in Portland Monday shopping for a few special items they had been unable to find.

These are busy days especially because we are somewhat behind with Spring work owing to weather, but just show us the sunshine and we surely can do the rest.

Speaking about sunshine, that's just what we want served with warm temperatures. Sounds alluring and we have one of the most beautiful spots in which to enjoy quiet and scenery. Our checkerboard seems deserted these days, but we expect to see our Army girls, WAACS and Nurses and soldiers spending some of their spare time in a deep game of checkers before long.

Follow The Trend

Rockland League of Women Voters

The League of Women Voters, longtime foe of the political and spoils system, has cocked its guns in answer to what it calls "the latest and greatest Senatorial patronage raid."

This week League members from coast to coast will go to the public with a broadside, "Congress Turns to Patronage," as the amended McKellar bill making appointments to untold thousands of government positions subject to Senate approval goes to the Senate.

The broadside reviews the patronage-reform-reaction cycle during the Roosevelt administration, points out what patronage does to the parties, administration, legislation and the public. It gives clues for spotting patronage in various guises, and offers an "answer" to the problem.

"The effect of patronage on the parties," the League says, "is to make them job brokers instead of performing their true function: presentation to the people of principles and policies for which the party stands."

"The effect of patronage on the administration is to make jobs depend on political preference, not ability. It takes control of personnel away from the head of an agency, giving it instead to Congressmen, governors, and official patronage dispensers. It makes discipline so difficult and spreads responsibility so widely that the wonder is that government business gets done at all," the League declares.

"The effect of patronage on legislation," the League states, "is to keep many Congressmen in office because of his ability to get people jobs, with the result that he devotes his time to patronage, not legislation."

"The effect of patronage on the public is to make people believe politics is rotten and discourage them from taking the responsibility for government which they must take," the League asserts, "it they wish representative government to continue."

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon that will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on May 23. The Golden Text is: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (II Corinthians 3:18). The citations from the Bible include the following passages: "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness" (Psalms 17:15).

At Pratt Memorial Methodist Church Rev. H. P. Aldrich of Augusta will be the preacher at the 10:45 a. m. service. The Nursery School at the same hour makes it possible for parents of small children to leave them in good care while attending the morning service. The Church School will meet at noon. The Youth Fellowship will meet at 6 o'clock with the continuation of the topic of last week under the leadership of Charles Bishop. At the evening hour of worship, 7 p. m., Rev. Herman Winchenbaugh, local preacher, will speak.

Sunday at Littlefield Memorial Baptist Church, Rev. Charles A. Marsteller will use as his text for the service at 10:30, "A Light in the Darkness." Special music will include a solo by Mrs. Henry Ulmer. Sunday school follows at 11:45 with classes for all ages. The Young People meet in two groups at 6 o'clock, at which time the Juniors will dedicate new hymnals. The pastor will speak on "The Arch of Safety" at 7:15. Special music will be provided. ## A Flag And Chart

Dedicated To South Hope Boys Who Are In The Armed Forces

A service flag and chart, dedicated to those of South Hope and vicinity who are in the armed forces, were presented for use with appropriate ceremonies Sunday at the Grange hall by the local branch of the Red Cross.

The program consisted of: Song, "America," unison; reading, "To Thee, O Country," Laura Bowley; Pledge of Allegiance, school pupils; "Star Spangled Banner," Mrs. Edith Willis; unveiling of flag and chart by Olaf Merrill; reading, "They have to War," Aurie Willis; prayer, God Bless Our Boys, Mrs. Hazel Hart; Lord's Prayer; "God Bless America," unison; reading, "God Save the Flag," Muriel Childs.

The mother or father of each serviceman represented was then asked to say a few words, and was then presented with a carnation. Those in the audience who had relatives in the Service, also received carnations.

Continuing the exercises, Olive Campbell gave a reading entitled, "Special for the Mothers" and Edith Dunbar one on "The Flag is Passing By." Following this, "America the Beautiful" was sung in unison and the benediction pronounced by Mrs. Edith Willis.

An offering was taken to buy a flag pole for the Village Green. The chart contains the names of 19 boys, one of whom is marked with a gold star.

During the program, Miss Cheryl Reynolds and Miss Annette Gould stood at the front of the stage, Miss Reynolds bearing the Christian flag and her companion the Stars and Stripes. At the rear stood David Hart aged 5, and Lawrence Merrifield, 10, dressed in officers' uniforms. In the center of the stage appeared Dirk Brown waving the American flag, which all smartly saluted.

Our Merchant Marine

COLONIAL BEGINNINGS

AMONG HISTORY'S MOST THRILLING STORIES IS THAT OF OUR MERCHANT MARINE. IT'S FIRST CHAPTERS, LIKE MANY LATER ONES, WERE WRITTEN FROM STERN NECESSITY.

IT BEGINS WITH THE TERRIBLE WINTER OF 1607, WHEN THE DISCOURAGED POKHAM COLONISTS ON THE KENNEBEC RIVER, MAINE, HEWED FROM THE FOREST THE FIRST AMERICAN-BUILT COMMERCIAL VESSEL, THE 30 TON PINNACE VIRGINIA, AND SAILED IN HER TO ENGLAND.

THE NEW ENGLAND COLONISTS, LACKING VIRGINIA'S TOBACCO CROP AND FERTILE SOIL, TURNED TO THE SEA FOR THEIR LIVELIHOOD.

GREATEST FRIEND OF OUR COLONIAL SHIPPING WAS JOHN WINTHROP FIRST GOVERNOR OF MASSACHUSETTS, WHOSE TINY SLOOP "BLESSING OF THE BAY," 1630, TRADED ALONG THE NEW ENGLAND COAST AND EVEN WITH THE DUTCH ON MANHATTAN ISLAND.

FROM THOSE MODEST BEGINNINGS, CONTINUAL AND INTERMITTENT TRADE CAME STEADILY. BY THE TIME OF OUR ENTRANCE INTO THE WAR, MORE THAN HALF OUR TOTAL TONNAGE WAS DEVOTED EXCLUSIVELY TO THOSE OPERATIONS.

Notes On Music

A good thought from a music master:

"I have been a music addict for many years," he writes to the Herald Tribune, "and think I am a good judge, and based on long experience, I say that 'The Star-Spangled Banner' is extremely difficult except for the professional soloist. However, in its wisdom Congress decreed these words and this music to be our national anthem, and, this being the case, may I suggest that you stimulate interest in the substitution of the last verse for the first verse? It ends with a statement, while the first verse ends with a question."

"As you probably know, the Superintendent of Schools of New York instructed in January that all teachers be required to have their pupils memorize this last verse. The same instructions are in effect in all the public schools in Chicago, and I notice with satisfaction that clubs, churches and other organizations are making this substitution."

It is heartening to know, in these days when there is so much talk about building the morale of the men in service, that they are doing a lot of it for themselves with good old-fashioned hymn singing. Take the boys at Great Lakes Naval Training station, for instance. They like hymn singing so well that they always call for at least one hymn on their nightly community sings and there are far more applicants for the station's famous choir than can be accepted.

Most popular of all, probably because they are so good for roving group singing, are "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and "The Old Rugged Cross." The boys also call again and again for "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," "Beautiful Saviour," "There's a Wilderness in God's Mercy," "Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates," "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," and, of course, the traditional Navy hymn, "Eternal Father Strong to Save." The boys are also fond of the Negro spirituals and particularly favor "Steal Away" and "Were You There?"

It is often true that music, very new music or very old music, fails of immediate appeal for these reasons. Elizabethan music, it may well be, has fallen into neglect for centuries precisely because it, like Clare's verse, is not immediately inviting; the music seems a welter of stylized progressions, and to our ears it has a strangeness, even a coldness, which is apt to discourage us at once. And yet, if we persist, the music unfolds; it blossoms on every hand until one comes to feel that no composer in the history of music has had a more wonderful melodic gift than John Dowland, or a greater mastery of choral technique than William Byrd.

Camp Tanglewood

The Y.W.C.A. Camp Tanglewood in Lincolnville will open again this year as usual. As nearly as possible, the standards and traditions of the camp will be carried through.

The camp season starts June 17 and will be in progress until Aug. 22. Bus facilities will be available between the Y.W.C.A. and the camp so that campers may use this public transportation to get to and from camp.

Miss Gladys B. Russell, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. and camp director states: "Girls and boys will be much better off this war Summer if they are in camps. Our national government has considered camps as an essential institution during war times and has given every aid possible to keep camps open for children. Camping is a method of education and is now accorded a new place because of the training and results seen in boys now in the service."

WASHINGTON—AND YOU

By Margaret Chase Smith

Washington, May 19.—So far as I can discover, there is no intention of increasing the "use" tax on motor cars and there is a bill before the Ways and Means Committee of the House to repeal the tax. I investigated this situation because constituents wrote me they had heard that the tax is to be increased. I would not suppose that any taxes would be cut down now, when we need revenue so much, but this is a Federal law and could only be increased by Congressional action. I do not find any intention to do this.

Several letters have come to me from families of men in the service, saying that the furloughs are too short to allow the men much time at home when they have to travel long distances. One mother in Augusta suggested that the War Department should take this into account when granting furloughs, and give extra days to men who have a long way to go. I have presented this suggestion to the War Department though I realize it might be hard to calculate each man's distance from home before granting his furlough.

As more and more married men are taken into the service, the problem of support for their wives and families becomes acute. Only enlisted men are required to make allowances for dependents. Several cases have come to me of men in other ranks whose families are not receiving allowances. One case was the wife of a flying cadet. Rules have recently been changed, allowing them to marry, but the government does not require them to make allowances to wives. Another letter is from the wife of a young officer and the same rule applies. The government does not make allowances to officers' families like enlisted men because officers get much more pay, and the government expects them to provide for their dependents.

There was one bright spot in the dark stream of restrictions and curtailments. When a rayon manufacturer in my District asked about curtailment of his materials, I asked the War Production Board, and was told by the head of the Textile, Clothing and Leather Division that the government has put no limits on the production of rayon with one exception. That exception is the curtailment of acetate anhydride which is used for acetate production. The rayon mills have in consequence turned to a finer denier to keep up their production. The Army and Navy is using some rayon, but WPB is trying to increase production of rayon.

Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes says that there are too many unforeseeable factors to permit any definite forecasts of the fuel oil situation in Maine next Winter. I asked him what he could tell me about this and to say that I appreciated what he had done for Maine this Winter. He replied with thanks, adding that the job could not have been done if it had not been for the cooperation and support he received from the people of the State.

"While we have many more transportation facilities available to move supplies East," he said, "we cannot at this time anticipate the extent of the military demands for off-shore movement from Atlantic coast ports to fighting fronts."

"We have definite plans to build up the oil shortage on the East Coast, badly depleted by the heavy demands of the current heating season. The extent to which this stock-piling will be possible is dependent largely on the volume of military demand over the coming months."

He assured me that he will do everything he can in the Spring, Summer and Fall to build up a supply so that we will go into next Winter with the maximum amount of oil stored at the points it will be required.

Not much more encouragement is given by the Office of Defense Transportation for golfers than for any other Summer recreation. Constituents in my District wrote to ask what the Government attitude is toward golf clubs. Much money is invested in these country clubs and that is something to be thought of, besides the pleasure of the individual golfer.

The Government is interested in keeping up recreational facilities as much as is compatible with the war effort, and England has tried to keep golf courses going when possible.

The Office of Defense Transportation says that regular buses may carry golfers on regular routes but no special buses or other special services will be permitted. Owners of private cars will get their one

Eligible To Compete

Sixteen Knox County Communities May Take Part In Scrap Metal Contest

Sixteen communities in Knox County are eligible to compete in the scrap metal contest which is currently being held in co-operation with State Salvage headquarters, the Maine Salvage Committee revealed today. The contest, concerned only with the collection of scrap metal, will continue to October 31 and trophies, based on population figures, are to be awarded the winning county and community at its close.

Headed by Cleveland Sleeper, Jr., chairman for Knox County, the chairmen in the communities having organized Salvage Committees are: Camden, Percy Keller; Cushing, Irving A. Pales; Friendship, Rev. Walter A. Smith; Hope, Elroy V. Beverage; North Haven, Leon B. Stone; Owl's Head, Alfred Fredette; Rockland, Cleveland T. Sleeper, Jr.; Rockport, Russell Staples; South Thomaston, George M. Snow; St. George, W. A. Simmons; Thomaston, Roy R. Bell; Union, Mrs. M. C. Stephenson; Vinalhaven, Orrin V. Drew; Warren, Fred L. Perkins, Jr.; Washington, Fred L. Ludwig; Matinicus Isle Pt., Horace R. Young.

Butter was used only as an ointment by early Greeks and Romans. It still is sold as an ointment in some Mediterranean countries.
